Earl Roland Seeks Seat On Fire Board

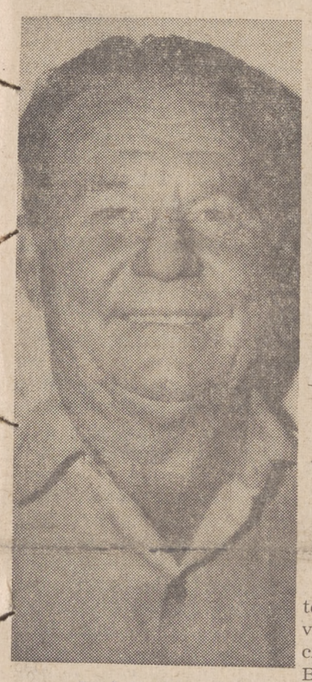
Earl R. Roland, a Spring Valley resident with nearly a quarter of a century of contracting experience from his business place in the community has filed a petition for a seat on the Spring Valley Fire Protection District board of directors.

The election is scheduled for November 6.

Roland, 55, who is a veteran of WWII and Korea, is also a past instructor of the U.S. Navy Fire Fighting school at the 32nd Street Naval Station in San Diego.

"There is nothing wrong with wanting to bring my solid business experience to the fire district board," he said.

"I have watched the District grow to become big business during the years I have lived here.



Earl R. Roland

"My success in business should be useful in guiding the District's continued growth. It will take sound business judgment to keep the tax burden within reasonable bounds," Roland said.

The Roland family lives at 3623 Saddle drive. He operates his contracting business from 3701 Bancroft drive and is one of the few persons in the State to hold both a refrigeration contractor's license and a general contractor's license.

The family is active in the Bancroft Baptist church. He is a member of the National Refrigeration Contractor's Association and a member of the Blackmer Masonic Lodge No. 442.

"I have been active in community affairs since I came here in 1949 and I sincerely believe my business talents can be helpful in the operation of the Fire District."

Bike-A-Thon Will Help Local Girl

Although April Reinhold is too young to ride a bicycle very far, she has a very special interest in the Diabetes Bike-A-Thon set for Sunday, Nov. 11.

April, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Reinhold of Lemon Grove is diabetic and she knows that the funds raised for research through the Bike-A-Thon are a prime source of hope for her and an estimated 25,000 diabetics in San Diego County.

Sponsored by Parents and Friends of Diabetic Children, an auxiliary of the Diabetes Association, San Diego Chapter, the second annual event will start at 9 a.m. from any of the check points on two routes, one along University ave. and El Cajon blvd., and one in the Mission Bay Park area.

Entry form may be picked up at any McDonald's Restaurant, at bike shops or the Diabetes Association office.

Riders ask sponsors to pledge any amount above a nickel a mile for whatever distance the biker rides on the route, one of which is 17 miles, the other twenty. The event is not restricted to any age group.

"Diabetes in children is especially difficult to control," said Mr. Reinhold. "If research funded by these Bike-A-Thons opens the way for better control, or even a cure, for diabetes, a lot of children still unborn may owe their lives to the 10-speed bike."

William Eastman, executive director of the San Diego chapter, said that the Diabetes Association hopes to double the 1500 riders who participated in last year's event.

Where Has All The Money Gone? It's A Long Time Passing . . .

By Ed Grantham

It was 1969 and the tune was about nine million dollars . . . . Now it's 1973 and taxpayer is dancing around to a new song that cost about $19.3 million and that promises to have a few new notes attached to it.

That's the story surrounding the Grossmont Hopital improvement that voters in this area thought was a good buy in 1969 at $9 millin.

Delays

A series of delays from the state, and current inflation has forced what the public approved for in '69 up an additional $3.8 million over a December estimate of $15.5 million last year.

Hospital Administrator Ronald Dahlgren released this startling fact to the public last Thursday. In addition to the cost overrun, the additional building and beds the public voted for in 1969 are not in the picture either.

What was originally voted for was a 10-story wing with an addition to make a total of 330 beds. Now the hospital administrator says they are buying a 106-bed addition and a six-story facility.

Bonds

However Dahlgren doesn't think that the hospital will have to sell bonds for all the money needed to build the new addition which is scheduled for construction early next year.

He said that with the 20-cent hospital district tax per $100 assessed valuation and a number of years of accrued tax revenue in the capital building fund they would only have to sell $13 million in bonds. That's still $4 million over the bond issue voted for in 1969.

The requirements to earthquake proof the new addition was an additional $4400,000. However there was a bright note sounded in the song sung to taxpayers . . . Dahlgren said the building should be built now because they were not going to be able to build it for any less in the future.

Grassroots Hearings

Hearings on proposals to strengthen the California Republican party at the grass roots will begin next week in San Diego.

In San Diego the hearing will be in the Council Room, Town and Country hotel, Friday, Oct. 19 at 2 p.m.

School District Asks 'How Good or Bad Are We?'

The Lemon Grove School District, long noted for being the "happiest school district in San Diego County", is taking another step to preserve its image.

A 4-page questionnaire will be distributed residents of the district next week allowing them to rate the effectiveness of the district's efort in a variety of classifications.

Each of the 52 questions in eight categories has a scale alongside by which respondents may chart their opinions. The scale allows for "not at all" effective, to "way too much".

Categories in which the district seeks citizen input include:

School / Home Communication

Self Realization of Child

Subject Matter

Citizen/Human Relations

Equality of Opportunity

Student Progress as Evaluation

Guidance Functions

School Organization and Facilities.

While a full-size chart appears on the cover page of the folder, the charts alongside each question are in miniature. Goals chairman William Talbot, said the charts, requiring 20-20 vision to read easily, were not devised by Dr. Jerry Legeton, optometrist, who is also on the committee.

One spelling error in the folder led a wag on the committee to suggest a stronger emphasis on spelling in the district's schools.

Parents, non parents, faculty, students and others in the community are urged to participate in the program. 5,000 folders are being distributed. Tear-off panels of the folder are to be returned to the district.

The administration, according to Dr. Robert Sutton, district superintendent, will not only make the results public, but will recommend to the district's board of directors that the results of the survey be respected.

Any Lemon Grove resident who does not receive a folder may acquire one by calling the district's administrative office at Kempf and Lincoln streets.

Handicapped Week Here

Imagine for a moment that you are handicapped — in the classic sense. Let's make your handicap a misshapened body and throw in a twisted face with protruding teeth. But you have good intelligence.

You would have learned long ago of the cruelties of life. Other youngsters ridiculed you. Your sensitivity grew. So did your aloofness. And sheer loneliness. There was no one you felt you could call upon for help. At least no one who genuinely cared.

And friends — what are they?

You have learned long ago there is no joy in life as normal people know it. And a job. That's out of the question. Who would take the time and trouble to teach an unattractive person a job by which he could become gainfully employed. None? You're wrong. Goodwill Industries in San Diego will.

Goodwill takes these people with their fragile psyches and gently puts them with other people performing productive tasks. Shoe repairing, furniture refinishing, appliance repairing, mending, darning and other tasks are taught. They work with people some of whom have even greater handicaps. With the vocational training comes psychological care and personal counseling.

As they become productive their self respect and confidence returns. Among their co-workers they find friends. Eventually they take a stab — maybe many stabs — at working in the unsheltered work-world. But they finally make it. Goodwill's only reason for existence is to lose employees that have been trained.

Because this is "Employ the Handicapped Week" we have created the handicapped person above. But his counterparts by the hundreds can be found at Goodwill and similar San Diego organizations whose only reason for being is to give help to the handicapped.

This writer has served on the Goodwill board of directors for about 20 years and has worked with Eugene Morrill, executive director of Goodwill for about ten years. Morrill is a director for the San Diego Committee on Employment of the Handicapped. He has a great rehabilitation track record. He brought San Diego Goodwill out of the doldrums into a position of leadership in the field. Here's how he looks at the handicapped problem. His comments will help you decide whether you can participate.

He establishes that an attitudinal gap exists and this often separates handicapped men and women from participating fully in the work force.

"The old prejudices, the old myths remain with some of the general public and among some employers, restricting these working from functioning at their higest capability," he says. "Unemployment remains exceedingly high in this population group and the tragedy of the problem is that it is a great community waste.

"Goodwill exists solely for those who are handicapped. Sustained by repairable discards, Goodwill meets the needs of the handicapped with vocational training, psychological care, personal counseling and rehabilitation.

"Goodwill men and women return to productive capacity in San Diego's economy and prove that it is good business to hire the handicapped. They are not seeking sympathy or special favors, but merely a chance to show their worth. Thus we enrich their lives and the life of the community as well."

Anxious Reader:

Of course it actually happens. Many women turn down two boxes of another brand of detergent for one already in their collective shopping carts.

Mainly, it's faith.

Maybe fright, too.

Picture a slick-looking dude, followed by a crew of technicians and cameramen walking up to an unsuspecting housewife in a supermarket. He shoves a shiny microphone in her face while studio-type lights come ablaze. With the battery of cameras recording every unprepared word, he asks her to trade her detergent for two of his.

"Do I want to appear greedy and stupid before the millions of people who will see me on this commercial?" she must ask herself. Obviously her answer is "no."

This answer is helped along by a greedy, stupid little thought that suddenly surfaces. "If I make the trade, maybe I won't get whatever generous gratuity those teevee spendthrifts are always tossing about," she opines. Her answer is thus reinforced.

Some day non-users may rise up and demand equal time. That'll be a welcome switch!

MOTHER GOOSE HOPEFULS — Six area teenagers are in the running for 1973 Mother Goose Princess Contest. From Left, Debra Reed, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Reed of Jamul, Monte Vista High School; Denise White, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. White Jr., of Spring Valley, Marsha Carpenter, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Niel Carpenter of Lemon Grove, Mt. Miguel High School; Sally Thompson, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thornton Thompson of La Mesa, Pamela Richardson, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean A. Richardson of La Mesa, and Carol Evans, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Charles G. Evans of La Mesa, representing Helix High School.

Local Girls Compete In Mother Goose Parade

Some came in mini-skirts and blouses. Others were in mod, colorful dresses. Quite a few wore slacks and blouse or pants suit. But there were two things the 36 happy coeds had in common at Singing Hills Country Club, El Cajon: (1) long hair, and (2) the fact that they had all just qualified as Mother Goose Princess contestants by selling 50 Mother Goose decals.

Rules of the contest were described by Jack Maranda, Princess Contest Chairman. He told his attentive audience that by October 20 at 12 noon, the Royal Court would be named.

"Everyone has an equal chance," he said. The 12 contestants who have earned the highest number of votes will automatically become Mother Goose Princess candidates elect and members of the Royal Court. Votes are calculated on the basis of one vote for every one cent collected through selling Mother Goose Parade Association memberships and window stickers to finance the Parade. After Oct. 10 Coronation Ball tickets will also be available to sell.

Final judging for the Princess and Maid of Honor titles will take place at the El Cajon Elks Club on Nov. 3. Judging will be in the basis of poise, personality and beauty.

Excellence of past judging was aptly demonstrated when 1972 Mother Goose Princess Kathleen Moore of Helix High School appeared to talk to the '72 contestants. She described the thrill of reigning as Princess during the famous Mother Goose Parade, the many friends she had made, and the fun and excitement of her 3-day Hollywood trip. The trip to Hollywood is one of the many prizes awarded to the Princess.

Striking looking Debra Holland, 1970 Mother Goose Princess also spoke briefly to the aspiring coeds. Debbie, a Monte Vista High School alumnus, is now a Grossmont College student. She said she felt so close to the Princess Contest that "they can't keep me away from these meetings!" On a serious note, she commented, "You can't become involved with a more dedicated organization than the Mother Goose Parade Association."

As the contestants streamed out of the club house for picture taking, the tally by schools was noted as: Granite Hills High leading in number of qualifiers with 12 contestants, followed by El Cajon High with 7, El Capitan High with 6, Grossmont High with 5, Helix High and Santana High each with 4, Mt. Miguel High with 3 and Monte Vista High 1, for a total of 42.

4H Week Being Observed By Local County Clubs

"4-H Gets It All Together" is this year's slogan for National 4-H Club Week. San Diego County's 4-H Club members are using the slogan as the theme in the exhibits, public demonstrations of skills and knowledge and other activities they're planning for the national observance, Oct. 7-13.

Harriett L. Blue, University of California 4-H Youth Advisor for San Diego County, pointed out that the 4-H youth program provides all youth everywhere regardless of where they live, opportunities to participate. "More attention is being given to young people's personal values, career exploration and accomplishment of individual goals.

"In today's program, young people can choose projects that fit them and the places they live. They have more than sixty projects and activities to choose from to fit their individual needs. Participation is dependent upon volunteer adult leaders willing to share themselves through the 4-H program."

The annual observance is designed to call public attention to the 4-H program, sponsored throughout the United States as a youth educational effort by the land-grant universities and colleges.

Total 4-H membership today in the United States is approximately 4 million. California passed the 76,000 mark this past year and San Diego's total enrollment is 3,938 4-H members with 1,430 4-H members in the inner-city.

Information about the 4-H program in San Diego County can be obtained through the University of California Cooperative Agricultural Extension office or drop a card to 4-H Youth, Building 4, 5555 Overland ave., San Diego, Ca. 92123; or 4752 Federal blvd., San Diego Ca. 92102.

Theresa Neirodzinski from the Jamul Chaparros 4-H Club presented an honorary 4-H membership plaque to Dick Brown, District Supervisor, Tuesday Oct. 9 in the board chambers of the county administration building in San Diego.

Other National 4-H Week activities include 4-H exhibits at Pershing Junior High. Raising and lowering of the American flag at Jamul-Los Flores school and a club poster in down town Jamul.

Also a community pride conference at Idyllwild ended on 4-H Sunday Oct. 7 in which Sheri Snively, Danny Westermeyer, Rebecca Neirodzinski and Susan Freeman participated as junior leaders. This year Mr. and Mrs. Bud Snively were adult club leaders, all from Jamul Chaparros 4-H Club.

How To Serve On Boards Topic Of New Program

A former president of the League of Women Voters of San Diego is leading a new UCSD Extension program destined for citizens who serve on local governing boards.

She is Muriel Goldhammer, now of the Urban Affairs Staff at Extension. The new program is a series called "Seminars in Effective Decision Making."

Major objectives of the seminars are to strengthen governing skills at the local level and increase satisfaction among the people who serve on regulatory and advisory boards.

"Boardsmanship is hard work," Mrs. Goldhammer says. "It should also be rewarding."

The program was developed by Extension in cooperation with the San Diego Urban Observatory. It is supported by a grant from the United States Civil Service Commission under the Intergovernmental Personnel Act of 1970.

Seminars will meet in San Diego, Vista, and Chula Vista locations, October through February. Each participant will attend an all-day seminar, and a half-day evaluation session later on. Dates of full-day sessions this month are Friday, Oct. 19 and Monday, Oct. 29, both in Room 2000 of the San Diego Community Concourse, 202 "C" Street.

Mrs. Goldhammer is recommending that teams composed of two board members and one staff person attend to represent community planning, recreation, health and welfare, and other agencies in city and county government.

More than 2,500 citizens serve on boards and commissions in San Diego County.

Seminar participants will learn how to weigh community concerns, set priorities for allocation of resources, and differentiate between an actual need for more information and a conflict of values by various constituencies.

"Sometimes an issue isn't being settled on the theory that further study is necessary when the real problem is an underlying disagreement about the outcome. In the interest of the community, conflicts in values must be recognized and dealt with," the seminar leader says.

"Although the advisory board role is to provide well thought out recommendations, a fundamental disagreement should still be brought to light, because ultimately the matter will have to be acted on by an appropriate governing body such as the city council or board of supervisors."

Communication skills will also receive major emphasis in the seminars. "An effective exchange of information among the public, board members and government staff people is vital to analysis of complex issues," Mrs. Goldhammer points out.

As a League of Women Voters member and officer, she developed leadership training and organizational programs at th local, state and national levels. After her local presidency (1961-63) she served on the League's State Board.

She is a member and past president of the Board of Directors of the Comprehensive Health Planning Association of Imperial, Riverside, and San Diego Counties. Her programs at Extension have included "Technology and Public Policy," and "How to Run a Local Political Campaign." Another course, titled "Lobbying: The Fine Art of Influencing Government," is scheduled for the weekend of November 17-18.

Board members who are interested in the seminars should telephone 453-2000, ext. 2061 for a brochure.

At Mt. Miguel

Cooks, Bakers, Football Player All Part Of Today's Education

By Ed Grantham

What's a football player who normally is a guard on the Matador's Mt. Miguel line doing in a home economics class ....You are wrong if you think that's where the girls are.

He's there to learn the finer arts of cooking and thanks to a new micro-wave oven and Mrs. Sue Blass, Home Economics Teacher, he may just make someone a good wife.

It all started with the introduction of the class to boys and it gives them an added credit for graduation. The oven, the only one in the school district is only part of the training the boys receive in the class.

Good Steaks

Mrs. Blass teaches the young bachelors that proper knowledge will save a good steak from being one with a frozen center. The class, open to juniors and seniors, gives the young man, such as football player Chris Palozzolo the fine arts of homemaking and proper food preparation.

In a room divided by six kitchens, Mrs. Blass has a full-time job in seeing that the young batchelors properly prepare their cooking experiments.

Boys or Girls

More than 60 boys are attending the classes and nearly 200 girls are taking the subject at Mt. Miguel. Mrs. Blass would not comit herself as to which makes the better cook, the boys or birls, but she did comment that the boys seem to follow instructions better.

It's not all cooking and eating, Mrs. Blass said. The boys as well as the girls are instructed on proper diets, proper shopping and preparation.

The class is perhaps one of the most popular on the campus and came about when Mrs. Blass's husband, the coach of the school wrestling team came to her for proper diets for the boys on the team.

Interest Zoomed

From there the interest zoomed and many boys are waiting to get into the class. The one problem facing the students and teachers is a familiar one...budget. The spiraling costs of retail food has affected the school's limited funds for purchasing items to cook in the classrooms.

This budget versus the cost is also considered in teaching the class. Mrs. Blass said it is part of the game nowdays to budget for food items and keep within a given amount of money. The boys as well as the girls learn how to cut corners along this line and still be able to have a healthy diet she said.

As any housewife knows, the drugery of cleaning up after a meal is necessary. How do the Mt. Miguel boys stack up in the dishwashing department. "They are excellent cooks and even better at cleaning than the girls," she said. That should make some mothers sit up and notice.

In explaining the micro-wave oven, Mrs. Blass pointed out that more and more homes are equipped with the new cooking device and the boys and girls need proper instruction on how it is to be used. They also learn how to use other household appliances she said.

New Ideas

How do the boys take to all the new ideas in homemaking? "It's a changing world and now wives are out working and a dual relationship as far as cooking is pretty evident. The boys are learning this," she said.

Cooking is all well and good and knowing haw to buy it and clean up afterwards is nice to know, but Mrs. Blass also includes instruction on sewing and laundry... That's when I quit.

Mt. Miguel Band And Corps Preparing For Rose Parade

The Mt. Miguel High School marching band and cape corps both scored first place finishes in last week's Fallbrook Parade, first competition of the year for both units.

Director Dean Immel sends the 98-piece Matador musicians to downtown San Diego this Saturday at 10 a.m. for the Columbus Day Parade. Drum major Alan Myers will head the group which is pointing toward the Oct. 28 Autumn Band Review and a chance to represent San Diego city and county in the Pasadena New Years Day Tournament of Roses Parade.

Mt. Miguel, which has been selected for the Rose Parade honor five times, more than any other San Diego area band, will also march in the Oct. 20 Poway Parade as a prelude to the Autumn Review.

At Fallbrook, the band scored 94 of a possible 100 points to 93.6 for second place El Capitan and 93.0 for third place Estancia. Orange Glen took sweepstakes honors for the third straight year with a 95.7.

In drill team competition, Mt. Miguel, led by captain Sue Wilson, tallied 93.4 points to 93.1 for runnerup Orange Glen and 93.0 for Estancia. Madison High grabbed sweepstakes with a score of 95.0.

Simon's 'Prisoner' Good Comedy at Off Broadway

by Max Goodwin

How can a play about a middle-aged man nearing a nervous breakdown because he has lost his job be dished up as a comedy?

It can't be done, you say?

Then you're underestimating the awesome creative ability of playwright Neil Simon.

His "Prisoner of Second Avenue", which opened last week at San Diego's Off Broadway, is funny. It would be an entertaining play even if it ddn't have the superb support of Van Johnson and his talented wife, Jane A. Johnson.

Van Johnson is cast as a 50-ish advertising executive who has lost his middle-high income job. He realizes that his talents at his age are no longer salable. He is plagued by a host of smaller problems: the air conditioner in their expensive Second Ave. apartment keeps the temperature below freezing, the plumbing drips, the walls have cracks, airline stewardess in the next-door apartment is party headquarters, and his upstairs neighbor has low regard for him.

When he indulges in a balcony argument with the guy upstairs, and he gets doused with a bucket of water, he suffers a traumatic shock.

Psychiatric help over a long period during which time his understanding wife gets an office job appears to get his head screwed back on a bit.

Brother, Sisters Offer Aid

His brother and three sisters from whom they had stayed aloof for nine years, come and offer to help—after a fashion. John J. Fox is his brother; Belle Ellig, Beth Peters and Holly Babel are his sisters.

Although the Johnsons turn down the generous offer of financial help, their kindness is what he needed to regain faith in himself.

But Jane, his wife, insists on keeping her job and there is jealousy. They rage and shout. The upstairs neighbor shouts down for quiet. As part of his therapy, Van Johnson had plotted to "bury that s.o.b. under a ton of snow" when he returned. He plotted to do this using a huge red snow shovel he bought earlier. The snow would be dumped from his balcony next winter onto the neighbor as he came home from work — the entrance being directly below the balcony of the high-rise apartment.

But he rushes out onto the balcony to take up the argument with his upstairs neighbor. Of course, he gets doused again. And goes back into shock.

Jane and Van Johnson

Just as the play ends an unexpected event occurs . . . but you should see for yourself. It puts his head back on again and both husband and wife regain their slightly tilted view of this off-level world.

The cast is outstanding. The play is great entertainment.

The play will be presented at Off Broadway until November 11 at 8:30. Exceptions are Sundays at 7:30. Matinees are Saturdays and Sundays at 2 p.m.

Here's A Government Watchdog That Is Good For Your Health

Government "surveillance" today often creates vivid mind pictures of illegal wiretaps, surreptitious tape recorders and monolithic data banks — enough to make any citizen wary.

But despite their wariness, many cautious consumers are demanding that government be their watchdog in areas where they cannot always look out for themselves.

In one of the most vital areas of public concern, health, the State of California has long had a comprehensive range of programs to monitor environmental health and safety and health care services.

The recently reorganized State Department of Health brought together the former Departments of Mental Hygiene, Public Health and Health Care Services. The consolidated department is responsible for all health protection and surveillence activities — Ranging from monitoring water pollution and sanitation practices to detection of cancer quacks and investigation of fraudulent claims for care provided to the poor.

Increased Efficiency

According to State Health Director J. M. Stubblebine, M.D., the melding of surveillance, investigation, environmental monitoring and quality review services in one department has increased efficiency and greatly improved access to information.

"For the first time," Dr. Stubblebine said, "the consumer of provider of health care service can go to one place to get information or to register a complaint." Local health officials and agencies also have a central state health administration to which they can relate, he said.

"And within the Department, staff for the program can talk with each other without cutting through bureaucratic red tape on sharing of information," Stubblebine said. This enables the Department to avoid overlapping of assignments, he said.

Welfare Abuses

Investigation of provider and welfare recipient abuses of the Medi Cal fee-for-service and prepaid health programs, and frauds uncovered by the Food and Drug Section, captures the headlines, Dr. Stubbblebine said. But other surveillance functions of the health department comprise a "silent service" that produces impressive statistics,he added.

The department protects the public by overseeing the safety of 32,000 different radiation sources. It reviews the performance of all adoption agencies in the state. Licenses are issued to such diverse facilities as day care homes and centers for more than 115,000 children, and hospitals with a total of 71,200 beds, and the department monitors the occurrence of all communicable diseases.

All mental hospitals are within the purview of the unified department. Also within its jurisdiction are the legal operation of methadone clinics, licensing of physical therapy facilities, approval of plans for new health facilities, and monitoring of insecticide usage and occupational hazards.

4,000 New Cases

The number of fraud investigations of providers and welfare repicients has risen with reform of the state's Medi-Cal program, Dr. Stubblebine said. Last year almost 4,000 new cases were opened and; in July, 1973 the investigation section received 418 new complaints.

Questionable payments for medical services to ineligible beneficiaries were revealed by computer data, provider reports and information from local welfare departments. Complaints against physicians and other providers were made by Medi-Cal beneficiaries who felt they did not receive adequate services and by providers who believe their colleages may have been violating program requirements.

Dr. Stubblebine said many complaints result from misinformation or inadvertent error. A significant few, however, do bring criminal charges. Any errors or frauds are referred to the Recovery section for collection.

"Professioinal licensing boards are advised of information which might reflect on a provider's fitness to practice," he said.

With centralization, the 75-person investigations section, formerly responsible only for Medi-Cal payment abuses, has been assigned violatioins of other state health-related laws and regulations.

Substandard Nursing

Recently the unit was instrumental in securing an injunction which closed a substandard nursing home. It is currently assisting local authorities in the investigation of misleading enrollment practices attributed to several Southern California prepaid health plans.

Quality evaluation activities are another new area of emphasis for the health department. "Here the focus is on publicly-funded health care services, but many of the roads being paved may be used in the future by private groups concerned with improving and monitoring quality of care," Dr. Stubblebine said.

Working with established provider organizations, such as the California Medical Association, California Hospital Association and California Dental Association, the department encourages peer review as an effective surveillance method for professional providers.

Peer Groups

In peer review, physicians or other providers evaluate each other's work, analyzing the records of their colleagues' patients through study and open discussion.

"We have a special surveillance capability that helps the department be more responsive to the people's health needs," Dr. Stubblebine concluded. "More than 900 concerned, informed citizens tell us what they think of the department's activities as members of more than 50 advisory groups. By watching and being watched, we can give surveillance its best meaning: To protect the rights of the individual while assuring the welfare of the general population."

Desert Land Usage Subject of Talk

In a program planned to get public in-put into plans for public land usage of California desert areas, Micki Smith, Bureau of Land Management (BLM), Riverside District office, will speak on the preliminary California Desert Plan Program (ORV) before members of the San Diego Mineral and Gem Society at 8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 12 at the Natural History Museum in Balboa Park.

The ORV plan, released for public review in September, will place controls over 12,000,000 acres of California desert lands on Nov. 1. It is part of the BLM program for management of national resource lands of the California desert.

Many rock collecting areas are included in this vast tract. Ms. Smith will present a slide program, "The California Desert", distribute maps of the area and conduct a question and answer period following her explanation of ORV and the various proposed designated areas covered by its jurisdiction.

The meeting will be held in the additorium of the Natural History Museum. The public is welcome.

Flip-Flop Schedule Brings Oakland Raiders Here Sunday

The Oakland Raiders come to town this week to try to get a piece of the Chargers starting Sunday at 1 p.m.

It is the first AFC West Division game for San Diego and the Raiders have none of the elements of being a push-over. Winning the division fivt times in six years makes them formidable.

The Sunday game is a flip-flop scheduled one. It was originally scheduled at Oakland but was switched with the one scheduled here due to the baseball playoffs involving Oakland, November 25. Season ticket-holders will use the November ticket Sunday.

The Chargers have not beaten the Raiders since 1968 but tied them 17-17 at Oakland last year and lost to them here 21-19.

Coach Harlan Svare put it extremely well about last week's game. "The first half was a nightmare. I am bitterly disappointed," he said. He acknowledged that Quarterback Dan Fouts did a fine job in the second half.

Fouts was outstanding. He came in after Johnny Unitas took to the bench with sore knees. Fouts, with only a one-half game experience as a pro—and that in pre-season—completed 11 for 21 for 193. He racked up all the points the Chargers got. The final score: Pittsburgh 38. Chargers 21.

Raiders coach John Madden will showcase his southpaw quarterback Kenny Stabler, who is replacing Daryle Lamonica. And big, bad Bubba Smith on defense with George Blanda as punter.

The Raiders are not invincible. They're 2-2 on the season. The Chargers are 1-3. The two could be tied Sunday night if the Chargers expertise returns.

No matter what the outcome of Sunday's game, there's another one the following week. The Chargers will face Norm Brocklin's Atlanta Falcons Sunday, October 21, at 1 p.m.

Aggies to Test Aztecs Saturday In Shrine Game

Throwing quarterback Joe Pisarcik and his New Mexico State Aggie teammates will provide the opposition for San Diego State Saturday night at 8 p.m. in San Diego Stadium in the 29th annual Shrine Charity Football Classic.

Pisarcik, the top quarterback in New Mexico State history, and new coach Jim Bradley have rallied the Aggies from a terrible 2-9 season in 1972 to a fine 4-2 mark after six games of 1973.

"Solano Joe", as Pisarcik is called, has hit 39 of 74 passes for 707 yards and seven touchdowns this season. He was injured in the Aggie's loss to New Mexico but showed he was completely recovered last week as he hit 11 of 16 passss for 191 yards and three TD's in a 27-23 win over Texas (El Paso).

San Diego State is 2-1 going into the game following a 14-9 loss to 13th rated University of Houston.

The Aztecs and Cougars staged an exciting contest despite numerous turnovers. San Diego recovered five Houston fumbles, but the Aztecs gave the ball back seven times—five on pass interceptions and two on fumbles.

Houston rolled up 442 yards net rushing, the most ever against a San Diego State team. The old mark was 416 by Long Beach State in 1970. Reggie Cherry broke one run from scrimmage of 84 yards for Houston which is the longest run from scrimmage in Cougar history.

"We're bitterly disappointed by the loss," said Aztec coach Claude Gilbert. "We played damn well and I think everyone knows it. We had at least four big chances to score and win the game, but just couldn't do it. This game means a lot to us because now we know that San Diego State can play with highly rated teams."

Mt. Miguel Water Polo Team Wins 2

By Rodger Price

Mt. Miguel's varsity water polo team took its first two league games to gain a tie with Monte Vista for first place. The team is the defending Grossmont league champion and is led by last year's Most Valuable Player of the league, Steve Solomen.

The Matadors opened the league season with a 9-5 win ovr El Cajon. Solomen led all scorers with four goals, followed by two apiece by Rodger Price and Gary Horgan.

Two days later, the team overwhelmed Santana, 16-5, again led by Solomen with six. Horgan and Mark Price came up with three apiece.

The team goes against Grossmont today in a probable battle for the number two position. The game is at 2 p.m. at Grossmont J.C. It is free to all and the team would appreciate your support.

Hafey, Cruz, Potter On Coliseum Card Friday

Dear Editor:

Our next show at the new Coliseum Friday will feature San Diego featherweight Irish Art Hafey, the hottest item in boxing at the moment. He returns here to take on Ad Zapanta of the Philippines.

During the past three weeks Art has knocked out Mexico's great little warrior Ruben Olivares in four, then, on Sunday, in New Giasgow, Nova Scotia, he iced Pablo Nieves of New York.

Two other 10-rounders make up our next card. Dommy Cruz of Manila, who made such a great hit here by defeating Valente Vera, trades punches with Spider Watson, of L.A.

The third 10-rounder pits Irish Greg Potter of Joplin, Mo. against Julio Lopez of Dulzura. Potter has been in with the likes of Carlos Ortiz (former lightweight king) and Roberto Duran, the current lightweight champion.

Price for Friday's card: $2, general; $5 loges, $6 reserved and $7.50 ringside.

Thanks for your interest,
Mickey Davies

Art Hafey, who stars in Friday's House of Punch at 13th and E. streets in San Digo, has scored 20 knockouts enroute to his 30-5-4 record and has won 18 straight fights. Ring Magazine has established him as world's number five in the feather division.

Hafey put the frosting on the cake when he ko'd Ruben Olivares in Monterrey, Mexico. Olivares is former world champ. Earlier this year, Hafey stopped Famoso Gomez, a world-rated scrapper, in L.A.

Hafey's opponent, Ad Zapanta, made his debut here last month by chilling Mexico's Joe Valdez in 8 rounds. He is an inch taller than Hafey and has the same aggressive style. His 13-2-1 record includes 8 ko's.

The second feather fight is between Dommy Cruz (10-) of the Philippines. He has beat Valente Vera, Jesus Robles and Manuel Vasquez. He lacks a big punch but likes to mix it.

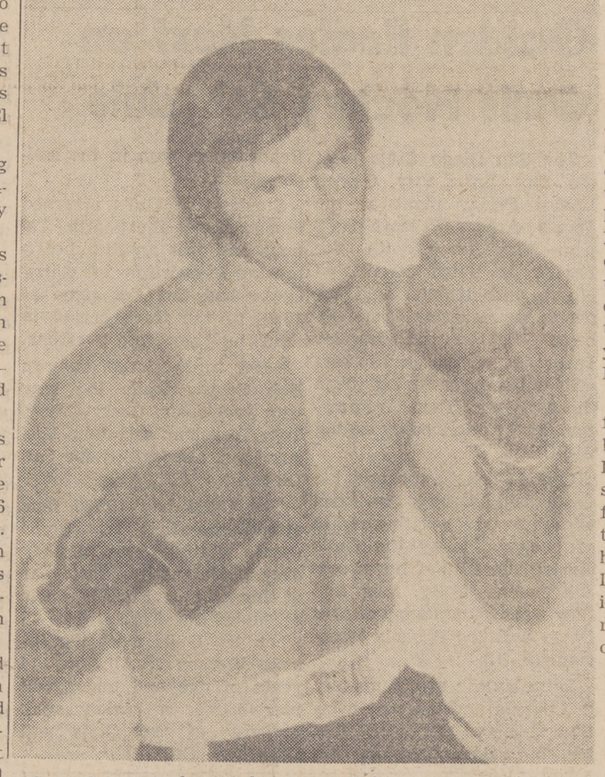
His opponent, Johnny "Spider" Watson (12-2-2), a tall spidery fighter who has racked up six ko's. His best is a jolting left jab.

Potter Fights

In a third 10-rounder, Irish Gregg Potter (17-3-2) goes against Julio Lopez (25-8) of Dulzura in a lightweight battle. Potter had a 93-12 record as an amateur and was twice all-Navy champ. He was stationed in San Diego and discharged at Long Beach where he now resides.

He is a converted southpaw. He switched when he became professional. He has fought Carlo Ortiz, former champ, Roberto Duran, current champ, and Ruben Navarro, who fought twice for junior lightweight championship and twice for the lightweight title. Last month Potter beat Rudy Barro of the Philippines in a 10-rounder in Eugene, Oregon.

The fights start at 8 p.m. Friday.



Gene Potter is featured in one of three ten-rounders Friday at the Coliseum.

Matadors Held To 6-6 Tie In Offensive Santana Clash

LAKESIDE—Heavily favored Mount Miguel traveled to Santana last Friday night to open the 1973 Grossmont League football season, but when the gun sounded ending the contest it appeared the Sultans were seeking the league championship instead of the highly touted Matadors. The Miguel charges were lucky to escape town with a 6-6 tie.

Coach Joe DiTomaso's underdogs were prepared for the more experienced Matadors. From the beginning it was all Santana. The home team held the visitors scoreless in the first quarter, playing ball control football. The Sultans were on offense for more than nine minutes of the first quarter, allowing the Matadors just four plays from scrimmage during the entire opening quarter.

Although the Matador defense kept the Sultans out of the end zone all night, it was the toe of Wes Hancock that enabled the home team to put points on the scoreboard.

Early in the second quarter the Sultans got their first big break. They downed Matador punter Chris Palazollo on his own 22 yard line when a bad snap from center kept the Miguel punter from getting the punt off. Unable to move against the rugged Matador defense, the Sultans called on Hancock and his acurate toe. A 34-yard field goal put the Sultans on the board, 3-0, a score they took into the halftime intermission.

Santana continued to dominate the contest until early in the fourth period when the Matadors finally got on the scoreboard. A 39-yard pass from Jess Jenner to Rocky Lancaster got the Matadors moving as they rolled to the Santana 37.

Mount Miguel's Tom Gallagher began to show signs of past games, busting tackles and gaining big yardage. In four consecutive carries the bruising Gallagher moved the pigskin to the Santana four. Santana stiffened and held the Matadors to just one yard in three attempts from the four. The Matadors, haunted by penalties in the past, were set back five yards to the eight with a delay of game penalty.

From the eight with a fourth and goal situation the Matadors pulled a successful razzle-dazzle play. Jenner pitched the ball to Gallagher who appeared to be trapped. Gallagher got out of trouble and tossed a pass to Mike Jones for the touchdown and a 6-3 lead. A mix-up on the snap for the PAT forced the Matadors to settle for the 6-3 lead.

Santana came right back for its tying score. Behind the running of Kevin Akenson and the passing of George Cartwright the Sultans moved to the 11. Faced with a fourth and two at the 11 they decided to go for the tie and accomplished their goal when Hancock split the uprights for his second successful field goal of the evening.

Mount Miguel hosts surprising Grossmont tomorrow night, while Santana travels to Helix to face the Highlanders, a team that upset highregarded Granite Hills last Friday night.

Looking At The League

The 1973 Grossmont League football season got underway last Friday night and as the results indicate, there were many surprises.

Major surprises came in the form of Helix upsetting Granite Hills, 13-7, and Mount Miguel emerging from their contest with a 6-6 tie against spunky Santana. Grossmont moved into the title picture with an impressive 34-6 win over El Cajon, while Monte Vista's darkhorse chances were dimmed with a 36-30 loss to a much improved El Capitan team.

In Grosmont's runaway victory over El Cajon, Roland Jouglet romped for 229 yards and three touchdowns in 36 carries. Going into the contest with El Cajon and their highly-regarded running back, LeRoy McGee, Jouglet had carried the ball just four times for five yards. McGee enjoyed another big night for the losers as he gained 161 yards and scored the lone Braves' touchdown.

Helix, like Grossmont, was facing another of the leagues heralded backs in Larry Downs. Helix managed to score their 13 points in the first half and hold on with a tough defense in the second half to upset the Eagles. Downs had another impressive night despite the loss, racking up 149 yards on 36 carries.

QB Jenner Injured

Mount Miguel has apparently lost the services of quarterback Jess Jenner for an undetermined amount of time due to a back injury, the second such injury to sideline the Matador standout in less than a year.

A doubtful starter for Friday night's crucial against Grossmont, Jenner was sidelined for the final three games of last season with a back ailment. Preliminary reports indicate that he is sufering from torn muscles in his lower back. The injury was suffered when Jenner was twisted around on a tackle in the fourth quarter of last Friday's 6-6 tie with Santana.

Coach Dwight Morris is expected to start senior John Madigan at the quarterback spot against the Foothillers. Madigan took over for Jenner last year and directed the lone touchdown drive for the Matadors in last Friday's game. In brief stints this season Madigan has completed four of 10 passes for 40 yards.

Jenner, bidding for all league honors, was 14-for-25 passing for 346 yards and one touchdown.

McIntyre Takes Cajon Crown With 2789 Points In Final

All of the top three drivers were winners Saturday night at Cajon Speedway as Jim Hitt of Lemon Grove took the main event crown with his 7th win of the year in the 50 lap super stock car Grand Prix and set a new record for the event.

Pat McIntyre of Spring Valley became the first driver to win 2 championships in a row by nosing out John Dineen of El Cajon by 5 points over the season. It wasn't all bad for Dineen as he set a new fast time record of 18:40, the fastest lap ever.

Hitt started the main from the outside front taking over the lead from Biggers going the full 50 rounds and winning by 2 car lengths at the flag.

Biggers gave Hitt a good chase but never really challenged in a 2 car race as the rest of the field scrambled for the valuable points that will pick the positions in the final standings.

The entire 50 laps were run without a yellow flag but on lap 13, Bucky Peralta spun into the infield on the No. 4 turn but was able to rejoin the pack. 3 laps later, Eddie Thompson spun in the south turn, held up traffic for a moment but all cars were able to join the chase.

Pat McIntyre

On the 46th circle, Tom Zelesky, Ed Hale and Steve Fensler tangled in the No. 2 turn but all were able to return to action and finish the race.

John Borneman, a 5 time main event winner came from 12th place to win the 20 lap semi over Larry Owens who started in front.

John Spears of Ramona came from 5th spot to win the 10 lap semi.

Cajon Speedway will be dark next Saturday, as the top drivers go to Bakersfield for the 1st race of the 5 Southern California tracks round robin competition races.

USD To Try To Keep Win Skein Intact

The University of San Diego seeks to settle a football score and continue its winning ways when the Toreros journey to LaVerne College Saturday night. The 7:30 p.m. game will be played at Bonita High School adjacent to the LaVerne campus.

It will be the first of three straight road trips for the Toreros who don't return to San Diego until a Nov. 3 homecoming contest against Azusa Pacific. They follow LaVerne with junkets to St. Mary's, Oct. 20, and Humboldt State, Oct. 27.

Coach Andy Vinci used his entire 54-man roster last week as USD beat Pomona 57-7. Previously USD scored victories over Occidental, 34-14 and Claremont, 35-7.

Lemon Grove Divers Moor Navy Drydock

Two Lemon Grove Divers, Douglas Jockwell of 7433 Iba st., and Kenneth F. Fritz of 1435 Dayton dr., have been commended by the U. S. Navy for their efforts in mooring a floating dry dock into position at the Ballast Point Submarine Support Facility.

This mooring job was accomplished by Navy civil service divers and 60 ton floating crane crewmen serving the San Diego Navy Public Works Center (PWC) based aboard the Naval Station.

In practice the craft was moored in a fixed position by use of a new prototype "Hard Iron Moor" designed by the PWC San Diego Engineering Dept. It was connected totally underwater and visible only to the divers. The effort included hooking up eight 2½ inch legs (anchoring device) to the dry dock at 20 to 40 foot water depths.

This phase was followed by pumping water from inside the craft bringing it to the surface in dry condition. Close attention was evident involving the stipulation the vessel could not float closer to the pier than 10 feet or farther than 12 feet at any tide condition.

PWC San Diego Engineering Dept., Technician Earl Kiefer explained this achievement by PWC San Diego Transportation Dept., men.

"Without the professional ability, knowledge, perseverance and attitude displayed by men assigned, the Ballast Point Submarine Support Facility would still have an unuseable dry dock," Kiefer commented.

It's summed up in this case by a voice representing the combined PWC San Diego crews involving the completed dry dock mooring project and directed at the Submarine Support Facility at Ballast Point: "Dive and pick up those submarines to your heart's content and feel safe in your moor!"

About half of the San Diego County budget of nearly $300 million is funded by state and federal governments for social services, mostly for community mental health, medical, and welfare programs.

Monarchs Lose Opener 36-30 Overpowered By Vaqueros

by Bill Ott, Jr.

SPRING VALLEY—Momentum, a word used quite frequently in football talk, was visable last Friday night on the Monte Vista field as the Monarchs and El Capitan opened the 1973 season with a display of offense as the Vaqueros held on to down the previously undefeated Monarchs, 36-30. The win was the third in a row for the visitors from Lakeside.

The contest was a free-wheeling affair with momentum changing hands three times.

El Capitan jumped out in front early when Jay Hostetler scored from three yards out. The attemped run for the PAT failed and the Vaqueros held a 6-0 lead. The Monarchs were down 6-0, but not out of the contest. They came right back with 14 points and held a 14-6 lead at the end of the first stanza. The Monarch points came on a 32-yard aerial from Steve Perdue to Mitch Bonilla and a 13-yard run by Perdue. Perdue tossed a two-point PAT to Pete Loftin for the 14-point total.

The momentum changed and changed rapidly in the second quarter as the Vaqueros bombed the scoreboard for 22 points and a 28-14 halftime lead. Rich Strang led the assault, gathering in a Joe Unden touchdown pass from the 25 and taking another Unden pass for the PAT and a 14-14 tie. Dan Melville broke the tie with a two-yard scoring run. The run for the PAT failed and the Vaqueros held a 20-14 lead. The Vaqueros added eight more points before the intermission when Spencer Lepman snagged a four-yard pass from Unden and ran the PAT for the 28-14 halftime total.

While El Cap's tough defense held the Monarchs scoreless in the third period, their offense continued to roll before coach Joe Rockhold began substituting. Art Preston scored the final touchdown for the visitors with an eight-yard run in the third period. Lepman took a pass from Unden for the PAT and a comfortable 36-14 lead entering the fourth and final quarter.

The momentum changed for the third and final time in the last chapter. Monte Vista's offense began to roll behind the leadership of Perdue. The Monarchs looked like a boxer ready to drop for the count at the bell. They came back and made an exciting game of what appeared to be a cake-walk for El Cap.

With just 3:28 remaining in the game and the Monarchs trailing 36-14, Perdue hit Scott Overlund with a five-yard pass for a touchdown. Casey Mahon scored a two-point PAT on a pass from Perdue and the Monarchs narrowed the score, 36-22.

Coach Stan Davies elected to go for the on-sides kick and the gamble paid off. The Monarchs got the ball and scored with just 58 seconds on the clock when Phil Vasquez took a five-yard pass from Perdue into paydirt. Perdue ran the PAT and the Monarchs closed in, 36-30.

The Monarchs again gambled and almost succeeded. Another on-sides kick and a near recovery. A Monte Vista player got his hand on the ball midfield, but could not hold on as Hostetler gathered it in for the Vaqueros. The visitors ran out the clock and took home a 36-30 win.

Players from both sides enjoyed fine individual efforts. Unden, calling signals for the winners, hit nine out of 13 passes for 119 yards and two touchdowns. He has yet to be intercepted in 35 passing attempts this season. Lepman was the game's top receiver with eight receptions for 110 yards and one touchdown.

For the Monarchs Perdue, Bonilla and Loftin all enjoyed fine evenings. Perdue, the junior quarterback, hit 12 of 14 passes for 147 yards and three touchdowns, while Bonilla, one of Perdue's favorite targets, finished with seven pass receptions for 105 yards and one touchdown. Loftin, making his 1973 debut, looked impressive with his speed and power as he rambled for 132 yards on 16 carries and accounted for several key first downs.

The Monarchs, who have played all three games in 1973 at home, travel to Granite Hills to face El Cajon, a 34-6 loser to Grossmont last Friday night, tomorrow night at 8 p.m.

State Seeks Help With Tracing Task

California's 42,000 practicing physicians have been asked to help state health officials locate daughters of women who were given a synthetic hormone in the mid-1940s and early 1950s to prevent miscarriage during pregnancy.

A letter requesting "voluntary collaboration" of all doctors licensed by the State Board of Medical Examiners was released June 29 by the state public health director, Dr. Frederick B. Hodges, and the president of the California Medical Association, Dr. Thomas Elmendorf. The letter said, in part:

"You can routinely inquire into the use of diethylstilbestrol when taking a new patient's pregnancy history or when examining one of your old patients, explain the reason for your query and urge those who did take DES to have their daughters examined and put under observation."

Dr. Hodges said California is working with a national registry in Boston, directed by Dr. Arthur L. Herbst, that documents cases of vaginal cancer believed associated with use of DES during pregnancy. In California, 23 such cases have been diagnosed so far in girls born between 1945 and 1955. More cases can be expected to develop in the future, Dr. Hodges said.

Two officials also told the physicians that recently a high proportion of healthy adolescent girls whose mothers took DES during pregnancy were found to have genital tract abnormalities.

The U. S. Food and Drug Administration in November 1971 warned against use of DES during pregnancy, following a study by Dr. Herbst and others that showed an unusually high occurence of vaginal and cervical abnormalities among young women whose mothers had received the estrogen. The use of stil-

Light Trucks Objects Of FederalStringent Rules

The State of California is attempting to prevent the Federal Environmental Protection Agency from imposing less stringent standards on light duty trucks sold in California in 1975 than are required on such 1974 model trucks.

Harold W. Sullivan, vice-chairman of the State Air Resources Board, testifying at an EPA hearing in San Francisco, said: "We are unwilling to accept the retrogress in emission control that implies if the EPA standards for 1975 model light-duty trucks will also be applied in California."

Meet Standards

Sullivan pointed out that 1974 models approved in California already meet a standard of 2.0 grams per mile of oxides of nitrogen, but that EPA's proposed 1975 light duty truck standards allow an increase to 3.1 grams per mile emission of oxides of nitrogen.

Sullivan argued for separate treatment of the light-duty vehicles in California from those in other states and for treatment of cars and trucks in this state.

Presently, California has the same standards for cars and light duty trucks. EPA has imposed a more stringent 1975 standard on California passenger vehicles than the standard for trucks. This standard would also apply to light duty trucks sold in California.

Same Standard

Sullivan argued that since 1966 data submitted by manufacturers and confirmed by EPA and the ARB show emissions to be approximately equal for light-duty trucks and passenger cars using corresponding engines. He also contended that it is technologically feasible for light-duty trucks to meet the same standard as passenger cars.

"California has never indicated any intention to have separate standards for light-duty trucks, and the manufacturers have known that for years", he said.

EPA proposes the following standards for light duty trucks in 1975 (expressed in grams per mile): hydrocarbons (HC) 2.0; carbon monoxide (CO) 20; oxides of nitrogen (NOx) 3.1. California proposes that the trucks meet California's 1975 passenger vehicle standards (HC, 0.9; CO 17; and NOx, 1.5).

Light-duty trucks comprise 12 to 14% of California's light-duty vehicle population. Sullivan estimated that 15 to 20% of the light-duty vehicle miles traveled in California are by trucks.

Sullivan urged that EPA act quickly to clarify its April decision and to grant a waiver to California for more stringent light-duty truck standards than those imposed on the remainder of the nation.

Governor Sets October As Employ Handicapped Month

Governor Ronald Reagan announced that "Employ the Handicapped Month will be observed in California throughout the month of October.

The purpose of the month-long observance, he said, is to acquaint employers with the availability of job-ready handicapped persons.

"We feel," the Governor said, "the employment of these worthy members of our population is deserving of more time and emphasis than the annual one week special emphasis we have given to it in past years."

Governor Reagan has directed Earl Brian, Secretary of Health and Welfare, to spearhead the observance.

Two Health and Welfare departments, the Departments of Rehabilitation and Human Resources Development (HRD), placed over 30,000 handicapped persons in jobs last year.

California's total labor force consists of over 9,000,000 persons, both non-handicapped and handicapped. Of this number about 600,000 handicapped men and women are working. But there are 190,000 other handicapped persons not in the labor force who are able and want to work, the Governor noted.

"People who employ the handicapped in business, indutry and other fields testify that employing job-ready handicapped persons in suitable jobs is good business," Governor Reagan said.

Ballet Auditions Offer Scholarships

The California Ballet Company and School's Fourth Annual Ballet Scholarship audition will be held at the California Ballet Centre, 3020 North Park Way on Sunday, Oct. 7. Ages 7 through 10 are invited to audition beginning at 1 p.m.; ages 11-12 at 2 p.m.; and ages 13 and up begin at 3 p.m.

A limit of 30 full and partial one-year scholarships will be awarded, made possible by business and private donations to the school. The scholarships will vary in value with some totalling over $600 towards one year's tuition.

Students accepted will be considered for participation with the Junior Ballet Theatre and this year's production of "The Nutcracker" in San Diego, Dec. 19th through 23rd.

Scholarships are awarded on an individual basis and they not necessarily go to the most advanced dancer or the most eperienced dancer. Many beginners have qualified for scholarships on their potential. Auditions are opens to both boys and girls.

Lighthouse Mall Offers View of San Diego Area

The new pedestrian and bicycle mall surrounding the old Point Loma Lighthouse at Cabrillo National Monument is successfully offering park visitors an enjoyable traffic-free view of San Diego and one of her most historic spots.

Converted officially to pedestrian and bicycle use on August 4th, the mall has relieved congestion on the narrow road leading to the Lighthouse by diverting cars to a nearby visitor center parking area. Physically disabled visitors unable to walk around the new mall may ride a free electric shuttlebus available on request at the Cabrillo National Monument visitor center.

"During the past year we conducted experiments on busy weekends by turning the Lighthouse loop and Whale Overlook area into pedestrian and bicycle use only," said Tom Tucker, Cabrillo National Monument Superintendent. "As of July 16, we have increased it to daily use and, overall, have received a very favorable response from park visitors."

NEW WAGON — Sheriff John F. Duffy (left) receives a first aid emergency vehicle from Sandra and Edmund Benoit of 120 Zassett Court, Spring Valley. Mr. and Mrs. Benoit won a new station wagon in a contest that also awarded an emergency equipped station wagon to the police department of their choice. They chose the San Diego County Sheriff's Department.

Couple Wins Sheriff's Dept. New Emergency Station Wagon

Last February, the Edmund Benoits of Spring Valley and the San Diego County Sheriff were double winners in a Colgate - Palmolive Co., "Police Surgeon" contest. On Monday, Oct. 1, the sheriff received the prize for his department, an emergency equipped Plymouth Fury Station Wagon.

The story began last November when Mrs. Benoit of 120 Bassett ct., Spring Valley, entered the contest. The first prize was a Plymouth Station Wagon and a second wagon equipped with regulation police equipment, oxygen equipment and a stretcher to go to the police department of the winner's choice.

"Since the Sheriff's Office patrols our area, we thought they should be the ones to get it," Mrs. Benoit said after being notified she had won.

The wheels turned slowly after that and it wasn't until July that the Benoits received their Plymouth Station Wagon. Modifications, including cutting the rear seat to install a stretcher, installation of police and emergency equipment, and the "Duffy Green and White" paint job of the Sheriff's Department, delayed delivery of the Sheriff's Emergency Vehicle until last week.

Sheriff John Duffy said the station wagon will be used as a first aid vehicle by several units in his department, including the Reserve Search and Rescue Team and the Underwater Recovery Team.

"Although it is not equipped as a full ambulance, it will serve an important role in our department, especially until we receive our regular ambulances later this year," Duffy said.

18th Annual Apple Days Set For Lemon Grove

"Our price is right!" says Lemon Grove Kiwanis Club about their annual Apple Days scheduled for Oct. 24-27.

The club offers extra fancy Washington Delicious apples at $10 a box (100 apples). For those who can't quite handle a full box, $5 brings them 50 apples.

"All kids, 1-100, will be glad to know that we will hold the price at the same low $10, in spite of inflation!" said President Mike Carlen. "If they only want 25 apples, we'll sell 'em what they want for only $2.50," he emphasized.

Johnny Johnson, chairman of the 18th annual affair, said that buyers can purchase direct from the apple car which will be on a siding at North and Imperial aves., Lemon Grove or can order from all Lemon Grove Kiwanis members.

Kiwanis members will be manning telephones at the following numbers for those who would rather phone in orders: 447-0592; 460-4601; 469-5015; 469-5201; and 463-8429. Jim Thomas of Pick Up, Ltd, will deliver the apples for Kiwanis according to Johnson.

Proceeds from the apple sales will be used for youth projects and emergency help.

Johnny Bench Goes To Bat For '73 Christmas Seals

All-star catcher Johnny Bench says he'll never take breathing for granted again. And, he aims to make certain that others don't fall victim, as he did, to lung disease.

Mrs. Ellen M. Abbott, R.N., Director of Health Occupations Education for the Grossmont School District and President of The Lung Association of San Diego and Imperial Counties said the Cincinnati Reds star is spearheading the annual Christmas Seal campaign against emphysema, asthma, TB and air pollution because of his own experience with lung surgery.

Fungus Disease

A little more than a year ago, a routine team physical revealed a shadow on Bench's right lung. Last December, the lesion was removed, and found to be caused by coccidioidomycosis, a fungus disease also known as Valley Fever, found only in the Southwestern U.S. The 25-year-old "prodigy behind the plate" recovered in time to report for spring training and played a full season for the Reds.

"As you live and breathe, you never think it's going to be you who gets sick", says the popular athlete. "I'm grateful to the dedicated health workers who helped me wallop what could have been a crippling lung disease."

The evidence is that Johnny helped the doctors and nurses, too, Mrs. Abbott said, spurred by his unfaltering ambition to be the best major league catcher in history.

Allstar

Johnny began his baseball career almost as soon as he was able to hold a ball and bat. At 7, he entered Little League competition in Binger, Okla. He was an all-state player for Binger high school's state championship baseball team, as well as class valedictorian in his junior and senior years.

At 18, he was the second round draft choice of the Cincinnati Reds, beginning his professional career with their farm club in Tampa. At age 20 he burst upon the major leagues to become 1968 Rookie of the Year.

That same year, he was named all-star catcher, a title he retained through 1972. Last year he received a total of 1,229,677 votes for the honor, more than any other player in both leagues. 1972 also marked his second Babe Ruth crown.

"Handsome and husky, a topflight golfer as well as major league player, Johnny Bench would have been anyone's last choice as victim to a lung infection," Mrs. Abbott said. "But coccy, inhaled dust, poses a special threat to those from areas other than the Southwestern U. S. An estimated two-thirds of all adults living in the desert region stretching from Southern California across Texas are infected, but never become ill. A stranger, without this native resistance, can become— as did airmen training in the area during World War II— very ill."

Required Surgery

Some, like Johnny, require surgery to remove the infection, which resists treatment with antibiotics.

"The fungus disease that attacked Johnny Bench is a perfect illustration of the reason for the annual Christmas Seal campaign," Mrs. Abbott said. "Environmental hazards to life and breath are increasing each year. From cigarette smoke in crowded rooms to the tons of industrial dirt and exhaust added each day to our air, our lungs are constantly exposed to millions of harmful organisms and substances. For some of the resulting lung diseases, like emphysema, there is no cure. That means we must prevent lung disease with research and education. Johnny Bench is helping us spread the word. We hope others will help by giving more to Christmas Seals."

Naval Reserve To Give Up-date At San Diego

San Diego's 2,000-member Naval Reserve community will take part in the celebration of the Navy's 1973 birthday. Special displays, exhibits and demonstrations of the Naval Reserve Forces in action will be featured at Navy Day Fair on the Broadway Embarcadero Pier Friday, Saturday and Sunday Oct. 12-14.

A special exhibit, presented by the Office of Naval Research entitled "Project Concern," explains the non-military advancements in science and technology that have come about as a result of the work of naval scientists and researchers. Teflon, the Van Allen radiation belt, human organ transplants, navigational radar and the first linear accelerator are a few of the contributions to society of this little-known facet of the Navy. "Project Concern" is a 12-minute narrated-slide presentation and will be shown three times each hour at the Naval Reserve display area.

Also in the display area will be detailed scale models of Naval aircraft and a complete exhibit of air crew survival equipment.

Divers from the reserve Inshore Warfare Unit 11-1 will demonstrate the use of Navy sonobuoys and diving techniques three times daily at 12:30, 2:30 and 4:30 p.m. Sonobuoys are used to detect objects moving beneath the surface of the ocean and through the use of an oscilloscope and audio monitor, visitors will see and hear the activity going on in San Diego's harbor.
